

Proposed DRS default transfer process

We are proposing that in undefended DRS cases, the complainant should have the right to a transfer of the domain name registration on payment of a fee of £200 (plus VAT).
Please read our consultation paper for full details of this proposed default transfer process and then answer the questions below.

This document contains respondents between 58 and 58 inclusive.

1. What do you think about our proposal for a default transfer process?

- I agree with the proposal
- I don't mind one way or the other
- I disagree with the proposal

2. Please give your reasons for why you feel this way about the proposal

Isn't it blatantly obvious? - what if the respondent is unable to answer due to holiday/illness or whatever other reason. You will simply transfer the name?

I think it should be the exact opposite - the name should not be transferred unless if you hear both sides of the story or get a "no comment" from the registrant.

Doing this will only encourage reverse domain hi-jacking!

3. Please give us your contact details
