

Proposed DRS default transfer process

We are proposing that in undefended DRS cases, the complainant should have the right to a transfer of the domain name registration on payment of a fee of £200 (plus VAT).
Please read our consultation paper for full details of this proposed default transfer process and then answer the questions below.

This document contains respondents between 124 and 124 inclusive.

1. What do you think about our proposal for a default transfer process?

- I agree with the proposal
- I don't mind one way or the other
- I disagree with the proposal

2. Please give your reasons for why you feel this way about the proposal

I agree with the proposed default transfer mechanism because it will significantly reduce the costs involved in the recovery of infringing domain names from respondents who would not have responded to a DRS complaint in any event. Moreover, the proposed default transfer mechanism is properly balanced in that it contains sufficient safeguards to protect respondents from those who might otherwise abuse the mechanism.
